

NEARLY HALF OF ALL UK BUSINESSES EXPERIENCED A CYBER ATTACK IN THE LAST 12 MONTHS. WHEN THIS HAPPENS TO YOU, WHAT WILL YOU DO?

CYBER RECOVERY INSURANCE FOR BUSINESSES

What would a cyber attack mean for your business?

A cyber attack can have serious consequences on your business, from shutting systems down and preventing access to important data, to stopping you from trading altogether.

Most SMEs won't know how to deal with a cyber attack, and will need expert advice to help manage the problem.

Can you afford a data breach?

When you suffer a cyber attack, any loss of personal information can be complex and time consuming to deal with, and the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) will mean heavy fines if you get it wrong.

The cost of fixing the problem, restoring systems and getting back on track can run into thousands of pounds for SMEs, and with potential ICO fines on top, could put some companies out of business.

Not only are the financial implications huge, but the effect on your brand can be disastrous. Will your customers trust you with their business?

How will Cyber Recovery help you to survive a data security breach?

Cyber Recovery is an insurance policy which provides businesses, with a turnover of less than £5m, with a Cyber Expert to help them survive a cyber attack or data breach.

It will provide you with the Lorega Cyber Emergency Response Team (CERT) to manage the crisis from the moment you discover the breach. Expert advice will be on hand following a covered data security breach - in which personal information is copied, transmitted, viewed or stolen by a third party unauthorised to do so.

As long as the breach occurred in the UK, we will investigate and assist with the restoration of your systems, liaise with the regulator and help you to communicate with your customers to limit the damage to your reputation and restore confidence.

Don't leave it too late.

In a growing digital world, any business will need to consider the risk of their data being lost or stolen, regardless of turnover or size. Cyber Recovery will help you to protect your business and manage this risk.
